Welcome!

Welcome to the New York College of Health Professions Continuing Education program of workshops. It is our goal to provide classes, seminars and workshops on a variety of topics for licensed health care professionals, current students and the general public with interest in wellness, health and holistic topics. CE credits are available for many of the classes.

Continuing Education is an important part of any health care professional’s career, not only to expand our minds, but to broaden our skills and increase the quality of care to our patients. Community classes provide an opportunity for us to share with the public interesting topics applicable in your daily life and hopefully to stir your passion for learning.

Please join us at New York College in the celebration of education. For further information on anything contained in this brochure visit our website www.nycollege.edu/continuing_education or call 1-800-922-7337 x223.

Vision
New York College is committed to the maintenance and enhancement of health – physical, psychological, spiritual and institutional. In the service of that commitment, the College seeks affiliations with other institutions and explores a wide variety of approaches to enhancing wellness and quality of life.

Mission Statement
New York College is committed to offering quality programs in health, science and the arts. The mission has three main components:

Education: To provide students with the knowledge and skills to enable them to become expert practitioners in their fields. To provide the knowledge and skills to enhance the health, wellness and quality of life in the larger community, and to develop educational materials to achieve that same purpose.

Service: To provide clinical and pharmacological services to the community as a complement to the programs of professional education. To provide services and products to the community that complement the programs offered by the College.

Research: To develop and implement with outside parties new product development in health care, wellness and quality of life products.

MASSAGE THERAPY
Classes open to LMT, RN, PT, MD, DC, OT, LA & New York College Students

Ethics, Challenging Patient Encounters: Dealing with the Unexpected with James M. Shinol, MSOM, L.Ac, LMT

This offering is both a lecture and a group discussion based on true practice stories. Scenarios will involve challenging, unexpected and at times ethical situations while treating patients. A spectrum of eye opening issues will be covered with discussion on how each was handled and potential modifications.

An assortment of challenging patient encounters will be presented, collected from numerous seasoned practitioners. The ethics involved in each case will be explored and discussed, as well as, the outcomes and modifications which should be made. Some examples include non-disclosure of serious illness, sexual advances, HIPPA and many more. Ethics and importance of documentation will be covered as well as NY State and malpractice rules on documentation.

Presenter: James M. Shinol holds a Master of Science degree in Oriental Medicine from Southwest Acupuncture College, Boulder, Colorado, and a Bachelors degree in Pre-Med from Albright College in Reading PA. James is a Diplomat of Acupuncture, a Diplomate of Chinese Herbology, and a Diplomate of Oriental Medicine (NCCAOM). He serves as the Vice President on the Executive Board of The Acupuncture Society of New York and is an instructor at several local colleges.

Myofascial Release Fundamentals Workshop
with Jason Beickert, LMT, Certified Rolfer

Myofascial release fundamentals aims to provide the beginning exploration into this profoundly beneficial hands-on-technique. From working with chronic injuries and pain, scar tissue, joint dysfunctions and inefficient movement and gait patterns, releasing the fascia, or connective tissue, can elicit profound results and potential chances in your client’s physical, emotional and energetic body.

This workshop will include:
* Understanding the components that make up the myofascial system, and how connective tissue work is very different than massage.
* Proper body mechanics, not only in the practitioner’s stance, but in the projection of seeing the work beyond what is under your hands.
* Make accurate postural assessments to make hands-on-work more efficient for both you and your client.
* Hands-on technique in supine, prone and side lying positions.

Please bring a flat sheet, bolster/pillow, & proper attire (Men: shorts, Women: sports bra/shorts).

Presenter: Jason Beickert is a NYS LMT. He graduated from New York College of Health Professions and is an adjunct instructor at the College.

Natural Facelift Massage
With Yuri Esperson, MS, LMT NCBTMB, NSCA, LICCI

This technique which is completely natural and safe uses no oils or lotions. Gentle and precise stretching of the small muscles in the face, holding them for a prolonged period of time, allows the facial muscles to strengthen and tighten. Special massage moves combined with acupressure to gently move lymph, improve blood circulation and bring fresh lymph into the facial area to provide a fresh, glowing look that lasts for days! A series of these massages help tone and tighten skin and visibly reduce signs of aging. Upon completion, students will be able to perform a one hour facial massage.

Presenter: Yuri Esperson is one of the pioneers of the face lift massage technique in the United States in which he is certified by the London Center for Indian Champissage International (LCICI). He is a Licensed Massage Therapist certified and qualified in many massage modalities such as, Reflexology, Aromatherapy, Hot Stone, Thai, Deep Tissue, and several Bioenergetics modalities.

Please bring two flat sheets and a bolster to each class.

Balancing the Pelvis, Hips & Sacrum
With Jason Beickert, LMT & Certified Rolfer

The pelvic girdle is the center of gravity for the human body. All movements must transmit and flow through this region unimpeded for optimal function. With 31 muscular attachments, the pelvic girdle is a focal point for treatment of most structural/biomechanical dysfunctions, including low back pain. With the use of myofascial release techniques, you will learn skills to dramatically improve hip mobility, work with hip and thigh pain, sacroiliac issues, and more.

The workshop will include:

- Review of the anatomy and function of major muscles in the pelvic girdle and how they influence patterns of dysfunction
- Learning assessment tests to properly focus your treatment to better care for your client
- Learning techniques to be used right away to work with pelvic tilts, problems such as sciatica; piriformis syndrome; SI Joint dysfunction; generalized hip pain and more.
- Utilize both active and passive techniques to enhance effectiveness
- Hans-on technique in supine, prone and side-lying positions

Please bring a flat sheet, bolster/pillow, & proper attire (Men: shorts, Women: sports bra/shorts)

Presenter: Jason Beickert is a NYS LMT. He graduated from New York College of Health Professions and is an adjunct instructor at the College.

Registration: $160 by February 19; $180 thereafter

This course awards 8 CE credits
This two day workshop will cover the following assessment and treatment protocols:

- Efficient body mechanics for deep pressure massage - Learn how to work from your core so you work smarter not harder
- Orthopedic assessment testing – Determine which treatment techniques are safe and effective to use by having a clear assessment picture of your client’s condition.
- Stretching – Learn how to figure out how to most effectively stretch each muscle for the client instead of memorizing stretching protocols.
- Advanced stretching techniques – Learn how to Contract-Relax (CR) also known as Post-Isometric Relaxation (PIR) or Proprioceptive Neuromuscular Facilitation (PNF) technique; and also Agonist Contract (AC) technique (the basis for Aaron Mattes’ Active Isolated Stretching (AIS) technique.
- Joint mobilization – Joint mobilization is the most powerful technique available to most massage therapists. It is the only method that can release individual hypo mobile segments of the spine. Learn how to perform this technique safely and effectively.
- Treatment of the neck – Learn how to treat the anterior neck safely and effectively

Presenter: Dr. Joe Muscolino has been teaching musculoskeletal, visceral anatomy, physiology, kinesiology, neurology, and pathology courses. Registration: $295 by February 28; $320 thereafter

This course awards 16 CE units

Hot Stone massage
With Amy Kolasky, LMT

Hot stone massage incorporates the use of smooth, heated stones used as an extension of the therapists’ own hands or by placing them on the body during massage. The heat is deeply relaxing and will help warm up tight muscles allowing the therapist to work into the deeper muscle layers while reducing wear and tear on their hands. In this one day workshop, you will learn how to provide a safe and effective full-body hot stone massage through a combination of lecture, demonstration, and hands-on practice. Knowledge of this specialty treatment is a must for working in a spa or wellness center environment and will allow therapists to maximize earning potential in their private practice.

Please bring a set of stones (min. of 10), electric roaster or skillet, 2 small white or light colored towels (dish towel size), 1 medium bath towel, wooden slatted spoon, small bowl, 2 sheets (at least one flat), bolster, face cradle and massage oil or gel to class.

Sunday, 2014
9:00 am – 5:00 pm – Syosset Campus

ASIAN STUDIES
Classes open to the General Public

Chinese Conversational Mandarin Language with W. Lai

This course is designed to teach basic conversational Mandarin language. The students will learn and practice conversing in Chinese for common situations with useful expressions for everyday conversation. The class will use speaking and listening comprehension, daily dialogues and phrases with cultural notes to strengthen the students' Chinese abilities. This will establish the building blocks for communicating in Chinese based upon your studies at the New York College of Health Professions.

Saturdays
8:30 am – 10:30 am

Chinese Medical Terminology with W. Lai

There is an extensive and complex Chinese terminology that is essential for Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM). This course focuses on the recognition, pronunciation and writing of medical terms relevant to acupuncture and oriental medicine. Simplified Chinese characters will be used for teaching these medical terms. This will provide supplemental learning for the students of the New York College of Health Professions.

Saturdays
11:00 am – 1:00 pm
Chinese Brush Painting & Chinese Calligraphy with W. Lai

Chinese Brush Painting is a traditional cultural art of China. It uses Chinese ink with Chinese painting colors, and brushes. Traditional Chinese Brush Painting captures the essence of the subject rather than creating an exact image. The subject areas can vary from flowers, birds, figures, fish, and landscape. Simple, step-by-step strokes are taught for a variety of these subjects for Chinese Brush Painting.

Chinese Calligraphy is very similar to painting and expresses characters like an art form. Essentially, Chinese Calligraphy is unique because this art form is a method of learning discipline, focus and concentration while allowing the person to express their spirit too. Chinese Calligraphy is an important aspect of Chinese culture and is often regarded as the art form from which all other Chinese art forms evolved. Learn the beauty and spirit of the brush for Chinese Calligraphy while relaxing gracefully.

Saturdays
1:30 pm – 3:30 pm

Physical Arts
Classes open to the General Public

Physical Arts play an essential and vital role in the education of our holistic health practitioners here at New York College, improving health and sensitivity to their own bodies, as well as the bodies of their patients. The Continuing Education Program allows us to share that experience with our patients and the members of our local community. Continuing Education students practice alongside our practitioners and students and reap the benefits of ancient forms of physical and mental well-being. Classes run in 15-week sessions, three times a year, beginning in January, May and late August. Minimum age 18 years. A Physical Arts Waiver/Release form must be completed with a registration form.

Introduction to the Physical Arts – PA 300
This basic course is designed to give students a general overview of the three (3) physical art forms taught at New York College. Classes consist of 5 weeks of study in each form beginning with Qi Gong, then moving onto T’ai Chi Chuan and ending with Yoga. Classes are two hours long. Beginners are welcome. Various instructors.

HOLISTIC NURSING PROGRAM
Classes open to Registered Nurses

Holistic Nursing Continuing Education Program
The Holistic Nursing Continuing Education Program with Asian Bodywork is designed as a comprehensive study program for Registered Nurses who seek education in holistic health care with an emphasis on Traditional Chinese Medicine. This program is designed to lead to the development of a holistic nurse, a health care practitioner who is not only effective in the health process of patients, but also who has integrated the principles into his/her own life. The program includes a supervised, clinical experience conducted on-site at the Academic Health Care Teaching Clinics or at one of the College’s affiliated hospitals. With the knowledge and skills that the Registered Nurse learns in this program, he/she can add to their present nursing practice or develop an expanded role as an autonomous professional in the health care delivery system. The Holistic Nursing Program provides 412.5 continuing education contact hours as New York College is an approved provider of continuing education by the New York State Nurses Association. Graduates will also be eligible to sit for the NCCAOM National Exam for Diplomate in Asian Bodywork and may be eligible to sit for the AHNCC (American Holistic Nurses’ Certification Corporation) exam if they meet other degree and employment criteria. Nurses who graduate from the New York College Holistic Nursing program and then enroll in any of the College’s matriculating degree programs may have between 6-24 credits waived.

New York College of Health Professions is an approved provider of continuing nursing education by the Alabama State Nurses Association, an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center’s Commission on Accreditation. Provider Number 5-145

Curriculum
Holistic Nursing is based on the idea that human beings are energy fields in open communication with the energy of the environment. Holistic Nursing aims to restore the integrity of the human being by assessing and treating imbalance in the energy field. Asian Bodywork, a specialized form of energetic and somatic manipulation is the most comprehensive bodywork modality used to accomplish this goal.

General Information
New York College’s Holistic Nursing is a 412.5 continuing education curriculum. It includes supervised, clinical internship conducted on-site at the College’s Academic Health Care Teaching Clinics. Graduates of the Holistic Nursing Program receive a Certificate of Completion in Holistic Nursing. Graduates of the Holistic Nursing program are eligible to take the NCCAOM exam for National Certification in Asian Bodywork. On successful completion of the NCCAOM Exam, the candidate is granted the title of Diplomate of Asian Bodywork. The program is offered one day per week and is four trimesters in length, or 16 months (a trimester is 15 weeks). The weekend program is one weekend per month for 24 months. Graduates of the Holistic Nursing program who enroll in New York College Massage Therapy degree program may have up to 24 credits waived. Graduates of the Holistic Nursing program who enroll in the New York College Graduate School of Oriental Medicine may have 6-8 credits waived directly from the Holistic Nursing program as well as additional credits from their academic nursing programs. Registered Nurses in New York State, along with some other health care professionals, are exempt from the Massage Therapy Law requiring a license to touch. Registered Nurses may perform massage and bodywork under the scope of the Nursing Practice Act in New York State.

New York College of Health Professions in Luo Yang, China

New York College owns the Luo Yang Medical Center in the People's Republic of China. This 35-acre medical facility features modern accommodations and excellent food in a park-like setting in the city of Luo Yang, once the ancient capital of China. It is surrounded by many historic sites including the Shaolin Temple where Kung Fu originated. New York College students and faculty (with family members) can visit China by participating in the College’s two week cultural immersion program. Beginning in Beijing with tours of the Forbidden City and the Great Wall, then traveling to Luo Yang, students have the opportunity to go to hospitals, attend lectures and see demonstrations of Traditional Chinese Medicine and martial arts techniques. They learn about the culture and philosophy of Traditional Chinese Medicine that is the backbone of their studies in Massage Therapy, Acupuncture and Chinese Herbology here at New York College in Syosset. Continuing Education classes for credit may be available.

For more information contact Dr. A Li Song at (800) 922-7337 x 353, Dean, Graduate School of Oriental Medicine, or by email to chinatrip@nycollege.edu.
